

Burt Giles

MANTI—Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home Monday evening after a short illness. He was born Feb. 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, Feb. 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernardino, Calif., in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940, when he purchased the Crystal Springs property.

Mr. Biles

He was an active member of the Manti South Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Survivors include his widow; two sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlisle, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Mur-

Native Of Heber Dies In Manti

Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home in Manti Monday evening after a short illness.

He was born February 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, February 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, California in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940.

He was an active member of the Manti South ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Survivors include his widow; 2 sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlile, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.

Native Of Heber Dies In Manti

Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home in Manti Monday evening after a short illness.

He was born February 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, February 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, California in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940.

He was an active member of the Manti South ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Survivors include his widow; 2 sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlile, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.

Burt Giles

MANTI—Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home Monday evening after a short illness. He was born Feb. 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of

Mr. Biles

George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, Feb. 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, Calif., in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940, when he purchased the Crystal Springs property. He was an active member of the Manti South Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Survivors include his widow; two sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlisle, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.

Native Of Heber Dies In Manti

Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home in Manti Monday evening after a short illness.

He was born February 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, February 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, California in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940.

He was an active member of the Manti South ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Survivors include his widow; 2 sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlile, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.

Native Of Heber Dies In Manti

Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home in Manti Monday evening after a short illness.

He was born February 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, February 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, California in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940.

He was an active member of the Manti South ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Survivors include his widow; 2 sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlile, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.

Native Of Heber Dies In Manti

Burt Giles, 55, prominent farmer and dairyman, died at his home in Manti Monday evening after a short illness.

He was born February 22, 1890, at Heber City, a son of George T. and Sarah Daybell Giles. He was married to Cleo Thorne, February 22, 1912, in the Salt Lake Temple. The family moved to San Bernadino, California in 1920, returned to Heber in 1933, then moved to Manti in 1940.

He was an active member of the Manti South ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Survivors include his widow; 2 sons, Burt T. Giles and James Thomas Giles, both of Manti; three daughters, Mrs. Amy G. Bond and Mrs. Helen G. Carlile, Manti, and Mrs. Marie G. Gillespie, Kaysville; five grandchildren; five brothers, Thomas M. Giles, J. Fred Giles and Oscar Y. Giles, all of Heber City; William Y. Giles, Salt Lake, and Richard D. Giles, Murray.